Room 205 – Mrs. Beebe

Happy March! Room 205 is buzzing with activity. The preschoolers have been busy exploring and playing in the classroom and on the playground. This class loves imaginative play and it is a joy to listen and watch them play and create new adventures together!

March Learning Themes

Authors:

We will be reading and discussing some enjoyable books from a couple favorite authors, Julia Donalson and Karma Wilson. We will focus on identifying characters, making real-life connections between stories and characters, making predictions, retelling events, comparing and contrasting stories, and most importantly, finding joy in reading! In addition, we will be spending more time writing in our journals in March. The dramatic play area will be transformed into a castle to encourage imagination.

Authors:

We will explore the signs of spring. This will include the changes in plants/trees, weather, animals and what people do in the spring.

Walking Through the Alphabet

March letters will be as follows:

Zz, li, Qq

Junior Teacher

We have had fantastic Jr Teacher lessons this year! The kiddos really look forward to learning from their peers. One idea your child may want to do is to share a favorite book. Please help your child prepare to talk about the book (ideas: name of author, characters, things that happen in the beginning, middle and the end of the book). Have your child also identify his/her favorite part (or page) of the book. They are not expected to read the book! Please see the Jr Teacher schedule posted on our classroom site.

Parent/Teacher Spring Conferences

I am looking forward to meeting with you again in person or via Zoom to discuss your child's development and progress. We will discuss self-help skills, social and emotional development, speech and language development, large and small motor skills, cognitive skills, and areas of interest. I will be available for conferences on Tuesday, March 18, as there will be a substitute teacher in our classroom that day. I will send a link to a conference sign-up google doc in early March. Please send me any comments, concerns, or questions you would like addressed at the conference.

I will be observing your preschooler and preparing for conferences during the month of March. If you plan to have your child gone from school for more than a day or two, please notify me ahead of time with dates of absence. Thank you!
